About Sheriff Daniel Brownell

END OF WATCH: TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1872

Sheriff Daniel Jackson Brownell was shot and killed November 26, 1872, when he responded to a report of a disturbance at the courthouse on River Road in the then-Holmes County seat of Cerra Gorda. He was 40 years old.

Brownell was at home with his family when he was advised of the disturbance. The sheriff mounted his horse and rode a few miles into town. When the sheriff arrived on scene, he was confronted by a gunman named Boutwell, and a gun battle ensued. Boutwell shot and fatally wounded the sheriff - but not before the sheriff was able to return fire. Sheriff Brownell shot and killed the suspect before he fell.

Sheriff Brownell had served with the Holmes County Sheriff's Office for ten years, having previously also served with the Confederate Army during the Civil War. He was survived by his wife and six children.
